

SEVEN SUDDEN DEATHS

OLD SOLDIERS THINK THEY WERE CAUSED BY DRUGS.

Members of the Marion Home Are Signing Pledges to Do Without Liquor for the Next Ninety Days.

TAR AND FEATHERS ARE USED

METHODIST CHURCH DESECRATED BY VANDALS AT BRAZIL.

Act of Spite Against an Evangelist—Investigation of Franklin Foot—ball—Other Indiana News.

MARION, Ind., Nov. 1.—The sudden death of seven old soldiers, members of the National Soldiers' Home in this city, has aroused the veterans' suspicion that all is not right. Within the past two weeks seven men have been found dead in their beds after a night of drinking at near-by saloons.

Believing that drugs have been placed in the liquor, a petition is now being circulated among the 2,500 members of the home to refrain from drinking for ninety days. Over 1,300 members signed the petition to-day. Robert Leavell and Benjamin Locke were found dead this morning.

Cutting Affray at Richmond.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

RICHMOND, Ind., Nov. 1.—This morning there was reported to the police a serious cutting affray that occurred last night. The principals were Halie Roberts, colored, and Julius Berry, white. Roberts wielded a razor and cut a five-inch gash in Berry's neck, laying bare his windpipe. Roberts remained here until this morning and then made his escape after a lively chase by the officers. Berry will recover.

TAR AND FEATHERS USED.

Methodist Church Is Desecrated by Vandals at Brazil.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

BRAZIL, Ind., Nov. 1.—Intense excitement and indignation prevails here to-day over the desecration of the elegant new Methodist Church here last night by persons tarring and feathering the west steps and doors, and the large sign stretched across the building announcing the revival meetings now in progress. It is believed that the work was done by persons who took exception to assertions made by the Rev. C. F. Barrett, of Delaware, O., who has charge of the meetings. He arranged members of the church in no uncertain terms for attending dances, and on Wednesday evening stated that this city contained more women of loose morals than any other town of its size he had ever visited. The evangelist was criticised by many for such utterances. "Danger" was written over portions of the church. An anonymous communication was received by one of the newspapers condemning Mr. Barrett in very strong terms. When asked concerning the matter, Mr. Barrett said that in a great many towns people had threatened to tar and feather him, but this is the first time, he said, he ever knew of any one taking their spite out on the church. He declared the act to be a cowardly one, and said he would much rather it had happened to him.

The people generally condemn the act of vandalism, and if caught the perpetrators will be severely punished.

TRACITION SECURITIES COMPANY

Organized at South Bend and Incorporated with $5,000,000 Capital.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 1.—Articles of incorporation have been filed with the county recorder by the Electric Railway Securities Company, representing a capitalization of $5,000,000, probably the largest amount ever named in incorporation papers filed in any county in Indiana.

(The incorporators are: Dr. S. M. McDonald, of this city; Thomas W. Kenyon, of Mishawaka, and Philip Lawrence, of Huron, S. D., formerly assistant secretary of that State. The company will have its main office in the city of South Bend. Its object is to purchase the securities of electric railroads. The company will purchase lands and buildings in Indiana for the erection and establishment of manufacturing plants with the view to manufacturing electric railroad appliances. Those interested in the corporation are confident about the personnel of the company, its directors and the exact mode of operations, but state that some of the men in electric railway circles are directly interested, among them officials of the Union Traction Company, Indianapolis and Muncie.

Elwood Traction Extension.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

ELWOOD, Ind., Nov. 1.—The Union Traction Company's surveyors to-day began the survey for the extension of the East Main-street line along Twenty-seventh street to the trolley works, and cars will be running over it within thirty days, it is said. The ultimate intention of the company is to build a belt line around the trolley works, but owing to the lateness of the season this will not be commenced until next season.

From Muncie to Montpelier.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

MONTPELIER, Ind., Nov. 1.—The new interurban line from Muncie to this city will soon be built into the ground. The graders are within three miles of the city limits and the track laying is being pushed. A large force of men are working at the station, putting in the switch board. This is the Muncie, Hartford and Fort Wayne line.

WANTS AN ARBITRATION.

Franklin College's Suggestion Regarding the Football Controversy.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

FRANKLIN, Ind., Nov. 1.—The faculty athletic committee of Franklin College has completed its investigation of the charges brought against Franklin College and its football team by Professor McCombs and Professor R. Hall, of the Manual Training High School of Indianapolis, and presented its report to President Stott. The result of the investigation and the contents of the report have not been made public, but it is known that President Stott wrote to the Manual Training High School this morning, asking that its faculty athletic committee select a third person, who, with one selected by Franklin, should choose a third person, the three to form a committee to look into and adjudicate the matter.

Family Ignored in the Will.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

RICHMOND, Ind., Nov. 1.—The will of the Rev. Joseph E. Heeger, a Catholic clergyman, was made public here to-day. It ignores relatives entirely. He gives $200 for masses for the repose of the souls of his parents; $2,000 to H. G. Seibert, Richmond; $1,000 to Dr. J. H. Luken, Richmond; $1,000 to the Rev. William Van Delft, Belleville, Ill.; $1,000 to the Rev. William Seibert, Richmond; $500 to the Rev. Charles Striker; $500 to Dr. J. H. Luken and family as token of gratitude for kindness shown; $300 to H. J. Seibert, in last charity. John B.

Heeger, a prominent resident of this city, brother of the deceased. He is not mentioned in the will.

Verdict for the Plaintiff.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., Nov. 1.—Several weeks ago Alice B. Bankert, living near Monticello, Shelby county, brought suit in the Shelby Circuit Court against the Court of Honor, for $1,000. The case was brought to a close this afternoon, a verdict being rendered in favor of the plaintiff for that sum and interest on the same from April, 1901. The cause of action was an insurance policy for $1,000, being held by Quincy K. Bankert, up to the time of his death, in April, 1901. He was, at the time of his death, engaged in blowing up stumps on a farm with dynamite, the defense being that he was engaged in a prohibited occupation.

Whiting's New National Bank.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

LAFORTE, Ind., Nov. 1.—Lafortians are behind the First National Bank of Whiting, which will begin business the latter part of this month with a capital stock of $50,000. The Standard Oil Company is also backing the project. Francis H. Morrison, vice president of the First National Bank of LaPorte, and Gallus J. Bader and Fred J. Smith, Lafortians who moved to Whiting some years ago, are among those who applied to the controller of the currency at Washington for authority to organize the bank. The application was approved this week.

Causes Much Regret at Muncie.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

MUNCIE, Ind., Nov. 1.—Great regret is felt in Muncie over the death of Francis A. Palmer, the New Yorker who founded Palmer University, in this city. The university was opened on Sept. 18. By an agreement with the Christian Church, Mr. Palmer endowed it with $100,000, and it is under the will of his estate that the university will have no effect on the future of the university. Dr. T. M. McWhinney, president of the university, left for New York to-night to attend the funeral.

Superintendents' Club Adjourns.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

RICHMOND, Ind., Nov. 1.—The closing session of the Superintendents' Club of southern Indiana was held to-day. The visitors were much pleased with the schools of this city. What impressed them most was the fine condition of the buildings and their excellent equipment. They commented especially the manual training department, saying it is the best in the State below the high school. The next meeting will be held a year hence at Seymour.

Gulmyer Held in Heavy Bond.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

ELKHART, Ind., Nov. 1.—Dr. Harry Gulmyer was sent to jail to-day in default of $10,000 bond after waiving examination on the charge of shooting with intent to kill. S. U. Roath, of Chicago, was also remanded in default of $500. He is held as witness. Gulmyer's victim, Miss Lulu Barney, has grown weaker and is kept under the influence of opiates. The doctors say her recovery is extremely doubtful.

Wrecked by Exploding Tomatoes.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

NEW CASTLE, Ind., Nov. 1.—One of the vats containing crates of cooking tomatoes blew up at the Kenard canning factory this afternoon, blowing the crates through the roof. The large part of the roof was blown off and the scuffling torn loose. One falling timber struck an old man, hurting him slightly.

Glass Snappers Strike.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

MONTPELIER, Ind., Nov. 1.—The snappers at the National window glass factory, in this city, went out this morning on account of the company taking the guarantee and putting them on percentage. One of the leaders of the strike said he hoped to have the matter adjusted by Monday.

Marion Man Fatally Injured.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

MARION, Ind., Nov. 1.—Word was received in this city to-day that Walter Rhodes, of Marion, was fatally injured in a railroad wreck at Georgetown, Tex. He was employed as advance agent of one of Gentry's dog and pony shows.

Insane Woman's Suicide.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 1.—Eliza Roper, for four years an inmate of the Southern Insane Hospital, committed suicide this evening by hanging. She was forty-nine years old and a resident of Gibson county.

Indiana Obituary.

ELWOOD, Ind., Nov. 1.—Mrs. Elizabeth Gavin, who for a number of years had been living alone in this city, died this morning after a brief illness, aged seventy-eight. She left a son, Mrs. Mary Leahman, wife of W. D. Leahman, died last night, aged fifty-three. She was prominent in the work of the Holiness Christian Church, and her funeral will be held in that edifice on Sunday.

UNION CITY, Ind., Nov. 1.—Miss Susan Witham, sister of Thomas Witham, founder of the Witham & Bowen Lumber Company, in which she was a stockholder, died very suddenly, to-day, of paralysis. She was a member of the Ticknor Literary Club, before which she read many brilliant papers. She was fifty-nine years old.

Indiana Notes.

ELWOOD.—The passing of another Elwood company became known on Saturday when the Citizens' Gas and Oil Company, which was organized last winter to supply its own stockholders with its surplus product, advertised its property for sale. The property consists of a gas well, the pressure of which is now thirty-seven pounds to the inch, and which has been practically abandoned.

FRANKLIN.—The horse thief arrested last week, the vigilance of the sheriff at this place, having in his possession two horses and a buggy stolen at this place Friday night, was taken to the jail Saturday afternoon by Sheriff Bowen. He refuses to disclose the names of his confederates, but it is generally thought he was assisted by local talent.

PERU.—C. A. Eastman, of Anderson, has been placed in charge of the Peru Steel Casting Company's mills, a concern employing 80 men. He succeeds G. A. Swartwout and his son, Philip Matter, the Marion capitalist who has a controlling interest in the company, made the change.

MARION.—Objections to the petition for the incorporation of the town of Matthews have been withdrawn in the Circuit Court. The petition of those desiring the town incorporated will again be presented to the County Commissioners for their consideration.

JASPER.—Burglars blew the safe of John Wibbels & Sons, merchants, St. Anthony, early Saturday morning and secured $500. Peter Hoff has been fined $500 for destroying graves on his farm, near this place.

RUSHVILLE.—Little Florine Watson, daughter of Representative Watson, who has been seriously ill, is no better and is gradually failing. Mr. Watson's parents, from Winchester, are here at her bedside.

AS SECURITY FOR DEPOSITS.

City and State Bonds Held by the United States Treasurer.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Following is a list prepared by the United States Treasurer of State and city bonds now held by the treasurer of the United States as security for public deposits:

State of Maryland..... $100,000

State of Virginia..... 44,000

State of Massachusetts..... 628,000

City of Philadelphia..... 967,000

City of Baltimore..... 120,000

City of Albany..... 42,000

City of Boston..... 120,000

City of Louisville..... 54,000

City of Springfield, Mass..... 50,000

City of Cleveland, O..... 530,000

City of St. Louis, Mo..... 42,000

City of Cambridge, Mass..... 67,000

Total.....$1,577,000

Bare Gems.

In buying diamonds from the cutters, my aim is to get the best quality diamonds. Always pleased to show goods. J. P. MULLALLY, 28 Monument Place.

WANT THE BARS REMOVED

MR. MOSELEY THINKS MR. TRACEWELL IS TOO WATCHFUL.

Controller of the Treasury Declined to Audit Accounts He Had Not Seen—Appeal to the Courts.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Controller of the Treasury Robert Tracewell is under a cross-fire in the United States Supreme Court in the case of Edward A. Moseley, secretary of the Interstate-commerce Commission. Mr. Tracewell recently refused to audit accounts for telegraph messages sent unless he could by personal inspection assure himself that the messages in question were on official business. Mr. Moseley paid for the telegrams himself and appealed to the Court of Claims, which decided in favor of Moseley. The government appealed to the United States Supreme Court, not because of any doubt as to the validity of the claims, but because the views entertained and enforced by the controller of the treasury as to the power and duties with which he is clothed by law have become so radical and extreme as to excite grave antagonism on the part of some of the executive departments of the government and seriously to impair the usefulness of his office. Such is the language of the Supreme Court brief in the case submitted on behalf of Moseley himself. "The action of the controller in the case," his counsel continues, "is a logical result of the extraordinary powers and functions which he has persistently asserted to be incident to his office." The brief refers to Controller Tracewell as "that most rigid and uncompromising functionary," and asks that his objections be denounced as "frivolous and vexatious." It is declared that he is "impairing and obstructing the operations of the executive departments of the government by a zeal untempered by discretion." Notwithstanding all this formidable language Mr. Tracewell is one of the most respected officers in Washington. His decision in this matter is generally understood here as a public necessity.

MACHINISTS MAY STRIKE.

Employees of Two Big Railways Threaten to Make Trouble.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Two big railroad systems are threatened with a strike by machinists, boiler makers and other workmen employed in their repair shops and roundhouses. The Chicago & Alton and Chicago & Eastern Illinois are the roads, and unless they sign an agreement with their men before the end of next week a strike probably will be called.

One thousand men will be thrown out of work if the railroads refuse to grant the demands of the men. Of the 550 employed by the Chicago & Alton and 350 by the Chicago & Eastern Illinois. The majority of the men who will be affected by the strike are employed in shops outside of Chicago, but nearly one hundred of them are working in the Chicago roundhouses of the two companies.

The demands of the machinists and boiler makers were met at the train to-night by Mr. Studebaker, who accompanied him to the Police meeting. At the close of to-night's speech the senator's voice was as clear and strong as when he began campaigning six weeks ago. He has stood the fatigue of the campaign without suffering any ill effects whatever. He left to-night for Indianapolis. C. A. C.

End of the Bill Posters' Strike.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—The strike of the union bill posters was declared off to-day pending an investigation by a board of arbitration agreed upon by the conflicting parties. The striking posters decided to leave the settlement of their grievances to a board consisting of Mr. Barney Link, manager of the American posting service; Secretary McCormick, of the bill posters' union, and President George Lighthall, of the Chicago Federation of Labor. The men return to work Monday and the finding of the arbitration board will be held binding by both parties.

Increase of Wages.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 1.—The Colorado & Southern Railway has granted a wage increase of 4 cents an hour to the yardmen in its employ. As soon as some minor details concerning rules are agreed upon a contract will be signed between the company and the men.

GOOD WORDS FOR BRICK.

(CONCLUDED FROM FIRST PAGE.)

Mr. Fairbanks arrived here about 8 o'clock to-night from Rochester. He came by the way of Walkerton and was delayed there a considerable length of time on account of a belated passenger train on the Three Road. A freight wreck near Knox was the cause of the trouble. The senator was expected to arrive about 7:30 over the Three Road and when it was learned here that the train was delayed on account of a wreck considerable concern was felt as to whether he would arrive in time to address the meeting. So much apprehension was felt that Joseph D. Oliver, who is at the head of the Oliver Plow Company, had arranged for a special engine to go out to Walkerton to bring the senator in. Late in the afternoon, however, it was learned that the senator would arrive here by 8 o'clock by waiting at Walkerton for the delayed train.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish in their native tongue. The senator made a plain talk to the audience of the things that vital interest them. He talked to them of work and wages and of their homes and their families. They applauded him frequently and they were especially enthusiastic when he talked to them of their military hero, the great Julius Caesar. He told them of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston, and of the great battle of the Marston.

Senator Fairbanks was well received by the Poles. He was introduced by Attorney John C. Gurnea, who spoke in Polish